

Privacy Policy

Extract Systems, LLC develops and owns Extract software packages, including IDShield, FlexIndex, Healthy Data, and LabDE. This page informs you of our policies regarding the collection, use and disclosure of Personal Information we receive from users of Extract software. By using Extract software, you agree to the collection and use of information in accordance with this policy.

Information Collection And Use

While using the Healthy Data software, we may ask you to provide us with certain personally identifiable information that can be used to contact or identify you. We do not collect personally identifiable information about you except when you specifically provide it. Personally identifiable information may include, but is not limited to your name, email address, phone number, company name, and job title. Extract does not sell, give, or trade this information in any way whatsoever. We may use your Personal Information to contact you with newsletters, marketing or promotional materials, and other information that you may opt-out of at any time.

IP Address

An IP address is an identifier for a computer or device on a Transmission Control Protocol/Internet Protocol ("TCP/IP") network, such as the World Wide Web. In other words, an IP address is a number that is automatically assigned to a computer whenever someone is surfing the Web, allowing Web servers to locate and identify a computer. Computers require IP addresses for users to communicate on the internet. The website uses IP addresses to analyze trends, administer the website, track user movement, and gather broad demographic information for aggregate use.

Changes To This Policy

This Privacy Policy is effective as of 7/23/2019. Extract reserves the right to make changes to this Privacy Policy. If changes are made, the revised policy will be posted here and will become effective once posted. Access of the website after posting constitutes acceptance of the revised policy.
